Point estimates favour the models; the pre-registered test confirms none of them